installment. The setting is now as 1755 Paris, where you are Sydney's $58bn property market has its own mini storm, after the nation's biggest foreign buyout group put down an $8.8 billion bid for Macquarie Group's $14.5 billion property empire. The buying spree comes at a time when concerns are rising over the market. The most recent snapshot of property prices posted on Domain Group's "Property Pulse" report showed prices were up 6.6 per cent over the past year. Some observers are expressing concern that prices are still likely to rise even after the latest falls. "We're more in the GFC 11 years now and it's a similar pattern of build up. We've been here before," Mr Ward said. After making a record acquisition last month, global property fund GIC has also come under scrutiny. A corporate council was established after the GIC bought out an 85 per cent stake in global investment management company MFS Investment Management. f678ea9f9e
